A MESSAGE FROM DEACON DAN GOSHEY

May the peace of the Lord be with you always

Dcn. Dan

Humility. It's What I do Best!

On the 22nd Sunday in Ordinary Time, our first reading (from the book of Sirach) starts out this way:

*My child, conduct your affairs with humility, and you will be loved more than a giver of gifts.
Humble yourself the more, the greater you are,
and you will find favor with God.*

Sometimes when I am trying to get a laugh out of people, I talk about my own humility. I like to say, "My exceptional humility is one of the many awesome things about me that makes me better than everyone else!" Unfortunately, sometimes the people I say that to actually take me seriously – which turns an attempt at humor into an awkward moment. But what is humility anyway? Let's start out by identifying what humility is not. First, the back story...

Most of you probably have never heard me do my radio show. I have been on the air for over 30 years. The last 25 years my radio home has been in Brainerd. While in Brainerd, I spent 15 years as the host of the morning show on a country station. After that I moved to a "Retro-Pop" format station in Brainerd where we play pop music from the 60s, 70s and 80s. I am still working for that station on a part-time basis. What I am most well known for in the Brainerd area is my annual Christmas series called "This Was Christmas." If I tell you that I am very good at producing and hosting radio programs, and that my shows are extremely popular, is that a lack of humility? Absolutely not. It is true. I am good at it.

Acknowledging God-given skill and talent is not bragging and is not a lack of humility. I praise God for the gifts He has given me, and I thank Him for them! These gifts and talents have helped me to earn an income and have helped me provide joy to others who listen to my shows. That is something to celebrate, not to hide. Even the Blessed Mother rejoiced in the gifts she was given.

Mary told her cousin Elizabeth "My soul proclaims the greatness of the Lord, my spirit rejoices in God my Savior, for he has looked with favor on His humble servant. From this day all generations will call me blessed, the Almighty has done great things for me, and holy is his Name" (Luke 1:46-49 – emphasis mine.) That is not a lack of humility. In fact, it is a perfect definition of humility. Why? Because she does not take credit for it herself. She recognizes the gift she has received, and she knows where it came from.

Mary acknowledges that she has been lifted up to greatness when she says "all generations will call me blessed" and then she immediately identifies the source of this greatness when she says "the Almighty has done great things for me" and follows it up with praise, "and holy is his name." The verse goes on to praise God even further. If we look at Luke's Gospel a few verses earlier, in verse 28, we hear the angel Gabriel tell Mary that she is "full of grace" or "highly favored" by God. Then in verse 42 Elizabeth cries out to Mary in a loud voice saying she is "most blessed among women." Mary knew she was favored, full of grace, blessed among women and that people who know her story will call her blessed until the end of the world...and into eternity!!! To acknowledge that is not a lack of humility.

...producing Christmas programming. My shows are fun, uplifting, entertaining, informative and very, very popular. Praise God! I thank Him for that gift. It has been a great blessing to me and to others and brings joy to many people. I am not ashamed to say it because I know Who it is that is the source of this blessing. Speaking about your own gifts and talents is not a lack of humility as long as you acknowledge that God is the giver of those gifts.

I can think of three dangers to be alert for, however.

1. When you become too attached to your gifts, or when acknowledging your own gifts turns into bragging, that is, taking credit yourself for things that God has given you. It can also lead to a second danger...
2. Insulting others or making them feel inferior. This is another harmful habit some people develop in order to make themselves appear more important. Be sure to help others see their own gifts and to rejoice in them.
3. A third danger is being ungrateful in the gifts He gave us and envious of the gifts someone else has been given.

In scripture we hear about times when Mary "pondered" things in her heart. I encourage you to do some pondering. What are your skills and talents? Baking? Sports? Singing? Art? Construction? Repair? Hospitality? Math? Science?

Whatever it is, don't be afraid to acknowledge your skill and talents. Then, praise and thank God for them and use them for the good of His people and for His glory. Help others to do the same.

- Doing what you were meant to do (using the skills and talents God gave you)
- and being who you were meant to be (a holy son or daughter of God),
- and doing it for the right reason (all for the greater glory of God) is a great way to lead a happy, joyful, peaceful life. Praised be Jesus Christ, now and forever. Amen.

God Bless,
Deacon Dan Goshey
